Torrance Sears Manager Will Head LA District

Sears, Roebuck and Co. through Arthur M. Wood, vice president Pacific Coast territory, this week announced the appointment of John G. Lowe as Los Angeles retail district manager.

Lowe, who joined Sears in October 1946 at the Long Beach store, assumed his new duties Monday. Under his direction will be 33 individual company units, including 16 retail stores, seven central service units, five appliance stores, four customer service centers, and the Los Angeles area pool stock.

During his 16 years of service, Lowe has held a variety of merchandising and administrative positions.

Since 1956 he has managed three of the company's largest retail stores in the metropolitan area, including those at Vermont and Slauson, Inglewood, and the Torrance store, which opened under his supervision September 30, 1959 in the Del Amo Shopping Center.

Lowe was born in Hemet, California, and attended school in South Gate and Huntington Park. He graduated from the University of Southern California in 1943 as a merchandising major, and began his Sears career following military service.

He succeeds E. S. Donnell, who resigned.

Volunteers for Nixon to Discuss Torrance Office

Plans for a "Nixon-for-Governor" headquarters in Torrance will be discussed at a meeting of Nixon Volunteers Friday, May 18, according to an announcement today by Torrance attorneys, Boris S. Woolley and John M. Wren.

Woolley, a past president of the 68th Republican Assembly and of the South Bay Bar Association, and Wren, a former teacher now practicing law in the area have been designated by Richard M. Nixon to be chairmen in Torrance of his campaign for the governorship of the State of California.

Meeting will be held at 2 p.m. Friday, at 2271 Torrance Blvd., Torrance. All persons interested in taking part in this campaign are urged to attend.

Woolley stated that, based on his experience to date, an enthusiastic response to the call for headquarters and campaign workers is expected. Many volunteers have come forward, wholly unsolicited, he said. Wren is hopeful that the headquarters opening can be marked by the personal appearance of Nixon. The gubernatorial candidate, who was Grand Marshal of the Palos Verdes Fiesta Parade last weekend, will be invited to do the honors.

SPHERICAL MOTOR

A solid fuel rocket motor that is round as a ball instead of the conventional tubular shape, has been successfully static test fired at the B. F. Goodrich rocket motor plant, Rialto, Calif. It is reported to have certain advanced capabilities to help boost rocket and missile performance.

Rename 208th St. to Torrance Blvd. in Carson

Two street name changes in the Carson area westerly in the Carson and Compton areas were approved last week by the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors.

The board changed the name of 208th St. from its terminus east of Main St. to Normandie Ave. to Torrance Blvd. Recently the City of Los Angeles made an identical change in the name of 208th St. between Normandie Ave. and the existing Torrance Blvd. in the city of Torrance.

The name change had been requested by the city of Torrance and was approved by the County Regional Planning Commission following a public hearing last April 17.
